Paige Lowers Own Record for Speed

Daytona Model Stock Chassis Makes 96 Miles an Hour.

The Paige 6-66 Daytona model established a new world's stock chassis record for 25 miles on the Cotati, Cal., track Sunday, May 7, when it covered the distance in 15 minutes and 27.95 seconds, traveling at 96.98 miles an hour.

The feature of this performance is the fact that in order to establish a new world's mark for 25 miles, the Paige had to shatter records made by itself about one year ago on the Uniontown, Pa., track. At that time it broke all world's stock chassis speedway records from five to 100 miles. These records remained untouched and even unchallenged until the Paige tackled them on the California track.

The previous world's record for 25 miles, set by the Paige itself, was 16:37.94, or 90.1 miles an hour.

Piloted by Earl Cooper and clocked by Fred Wagner, official timer for the A. A. A., the record-breaking performance of the Paige at Cotati was an exhibition dash against time, staged as a preliminary to a regular racing program. All regulations for such speed trials having been duly complied with, the A. A. A. has authenticated the California performance and the new Paige time for 25 miles is consequently proclaimed the official record for stock chassis.

New Tire Protector Eliminates Punctures

Omaha has an inventor who has made a really worthwhile accessory for protecting inner tubes. Ever since pneumatic tires were manufactured, motorists have dreamed of a protector which would not only eliminate punctures but add to the life of the tire, and according to

W. B. Wykoff, his invention really provides a puncture proof tire protector.

The construction of the Wykoff pneumatic tire protector consists of several layers of fabric with interlacing metal squares which are so arranged that a nail or tack cannot penetrate the inner tube. The substance of the material used, it is said, absolutely eliminates friction and avoids generating a heat within the casing.
